A Challenge

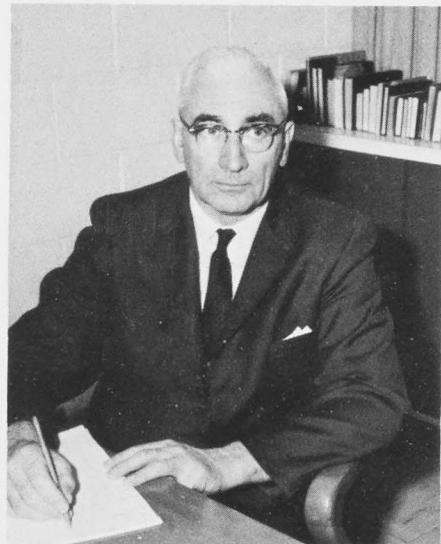

It is an accepted fact that you go to a school to accumulate knowledge. It is now quite obvious that learning the three "R's" is not sufficient for us to stay abreast of our modern society. You young people in the high school are preparing to meet the challenge of this modern society. It is expedient for you to apply yourselves to the studies that are offered you. Never say, "Now I know it all." Remember, God would have you able to do your task intelligently. Learn to apply in a practical way that which you learned in the course of your studies.

Solomon said, "Happy is the man that getteth understanding — All the things thou canst desire are not to be compared unto her."

Young people, the Lord can use your education. He WILL use it if you will dedicate it to His cause.

Inspector's Message

I am honored to be asked to write a message for the 1966 Yearbook. It affords me an opportunity to extend to you and your Staff sincere good wishes for your spirit in undertaking this responsible publication.

I would like to quote a part of General MacArthur's Address On Youth. "Nobody grows old by merely living a number of years. People grow old by deserting their ideals. Years may wrinkle the skin, but to give up interest wrinkles the soul. Worry, doubt, self-distrust, fear and despair—these are the long, long years that bow the head and turn the growing spirit back to dust. Whatever your years, there is in every being's heart the love of wonder, the undaunted challenge of events, the unfailing child-like appetite for what is next, and the joy and the game of life. You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt; as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fear; as young as your hope, as old as your despair. In the central place of every heart there is a recording chamber; so long as it receives messages of beauty, hope, cheer and courage, so long are you young."

At this time of year, I would like to take this opportunity to extend to you, the Teaching Staff, and the Student Body sincerest good wishes for the future.

President's Message

Another year of school has passed, and we look forward to see what we have accomplished. I feel that this school year has been successful, and I will long remember it. As we review the past year, shall we not be disappointed at our failures, but learn from them for the future.

On behalf of the students, I wish to thank all the teachers for the instruction and knowledge we have received at school. I would like to say a special thank-you to the parents and the school board who made it possible for us to attend school. Without your help, this would be impossible.

I want to thank the student body for giving me the opportunity to serve as class president. To me this has been a very valuable experience, and I have greatly enjoyed working with the student body.

Undergraduates, do your best in your studies, and strive for nothing but the best. As you strive to reach your High-set goal, remember that your life is an example that others will follow.

Alvin Friesen

Editorial

What does making a yearbook do for one who is closely connected with this process? First, it widens his views, interests, and experience. This may prove a valuable asset in future life. Secondly, helping to make a successful yearbook fosters a sense of responsibility. If, as a result of this, a person puts forth a good effort, he will find enjoyment and pride in his labour and its fruits. Lastly, working together with a co-operative committee that is striving toward a common goal, develops character. Co-operation, unity, and appreciating the other person and his ideas are all part of building character. We as the yearbook committee, hope that to a certain extent, these ideals have been realized in our own small worlds.

A hearty thank-you to all those who have made possible the Blue and Gold '66.

D. Brian Reimer

Principal's Message

When the late President Kennedy made the statement "Ask not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country" he was, no doubt, challenging the citizens of his country to seek an unselfish attitude towards their country and life in general. Not only would the country be more prosperous but the people's lives would be enriched. The words he stated may well have been derived from the words of Jesus "It is more blessed to give than to receive".

Many of you students have spent at least one year at our School. It would seem natural to conclude that not all of you have enjoyed yourselves to the same degree nor benefited equally. Is this because of some of you have found studies here easier than others? Probably. Could it be, however, that the greater factor may be directly related to the amount you "give"? If you came here only to receive, quite likely you found the year less than satisfactory. If you contributed freely... offering some cheerful words in a gloomy situation, suggesting worthwhile ideas, serving faithfully on a committee... you, no doubt, felt the school year to be more meaningful.

May I take this opportunity to urge each one of the graduates and students to give... first of all, yourself to Christ, and also your talents and capacities to mankind. If you do this unselfishly you can be assured of living a life of greater enjoyment, satisfaction, and accomplishment in whatever you do.

Valedictory Address

Inspector Menzies
Parents
Trustees
Fellow Students:

When we think of graduation different thoughts and feelings stir our beings. First it gives us breath of relaxation of a goal finally obtained or another mile stone reached in preparation for our individual vocations. For some of us this means the end of our education and others will seek institutions of learning to prepare for the future. Those who will continue their studies elsewhere might be filled with indecision, if we should finish our high school then go into other training, or which schools we should attend or even for what vocations we will prepare ourselves. Graduation might also fill us with uncertainty, especially of the future for we do not know what it will hold for us or if we will be successful in our new goals. Graduations are not without a sad note either, for we have to say farewell to what has become dear and close to us. We will now have to enter into unfamiliar places, be it schools or jobs, and leave the old familiar school and teachers.

We want to thank the parents and trustees who have stood behind us that it has been possible for us to reach this goal.

One of our foremost thoughts is the gratitude to our teachers who have prayerfully and patiently lectured and guided us through this course of studies. Your help will never be trampled into dust by us. We will always remember the history, literature, and biology classes instructed by Mr. Doerksen. Some of the sonnets and poems we have studied will help us in the future if applied to our lives. The challenges of maths and chemistry courses instructed by Mr. Klassen, will ever be before us. I believe these subjects will be an asset to us if not directly then they will indirectly help us to think soundly and clearly. Mr. Martens' classes of basic German and composition will always leave a note of amusement of all the interesting discussions we have had, be it the Beatles or of the subjunctive.

Although there have been hard times we can say as Ulysses said, "All times we have enjoyed greatly." And I hope we will do as he, Ulysses, decided to do, "to strive, to seek, to find and not to yield."

As we say farewell, we hope that we have helped to raise the morale and spiritual standard of the school and hope that we have been the right influence to the following students.

To those who stay behind, we hand the torch and hope that it will burn more brightly and clearer in your hands. We wish you all the best and hope that you will do more for the school than we did.

Our Graduates

MARGARET ROSE BARKMAN

This quiet, red-haired girl enrolled after Christmas, but she works hard and gets good marks as a result. This shows that she comes to school for the purpose of accomplishing something. Enjoys skating, volley ball, and crokinole. Her hobbies include reading, painting, and playing the accordion. Her ready smile for everyone accounts for the fact that she "hardly ever" gets into trouble. The future will likely find her as a nurse.

RONALD BARKMAN

A wearer of spectacles comes to school with a carload of Ridgewooders — and Curtis, with whom he chums. Spends a lot of his time talking, his favorite topic of conversation being girls and everything about them. Frequently adds his few words of smart advice. Ron missed school for a year but plans to take his place near the top of the class, in spite of this disadvantage. Formed the habit of arriving "a bit" after nine o'clock. His aim in life is secret to us and perhaps to him too.

NAOMI BRAUN

Naomi is ambitious, fun-loving, talkative, neat, and friendly. "Usually" has her home-work done in time. Hardly ever missed at school because she is present most of the time. She is frequently the recipient of long-distance calls from Romona and Lauren, and is apt to get visitors from other class-mates when the teacher leaves the room. Why does she sometimes have the "mumps"? If you are in need of a babysitter just ask "Omi", as she is a professional at the job.

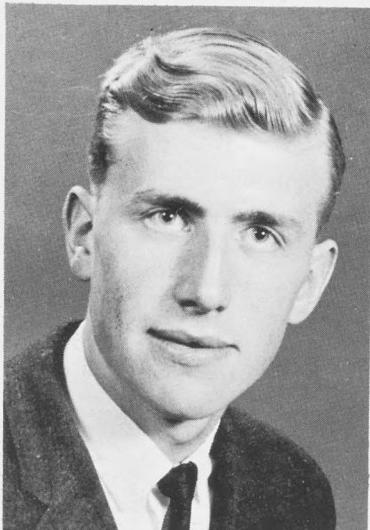

LYDIA DOERKSEN

Lydia is found where laughter is found. "Libby" as is her nickname, has a ready "smile" for everyone. When she teams up with Ramona in playing Rook she is bound to win. Has lots of information stored up in her "top-story". Remembers the birthdays of all her close friends and all the others too!! Pet peeve: Brian!! She loves to make marks that are higher than Brian's, tho' rare they are Enjoys singing, writing, and her driver's license!

RAMONA DOERKSEN

Ramona enjoys skating, talking, listening to conversations, playing Rook, horseback riding, and (?) Stopped coming to school on the bus for the simple reason that she had to get up too early. Spends many "enjoyable" hours feeding the chickens. She is friendly, intelligent, and receives fairly good marks, but . . . it would not matter if she studied a little harder. Plans to attend the University of Manitoba someday.

HAROLD FAST

This young but not small fellow goes to and from school with a tall sister. Harold makes good marks with a minimum of study, and that would be the day when a teacher would find him with unfinished assignments! Plays guitar in Blumenort "Band". Enjoys the company of Dennis. Plays chess quite ably. An artistic lad, who likes practical activities like the building of boats and model airplanes and the study of electronics.

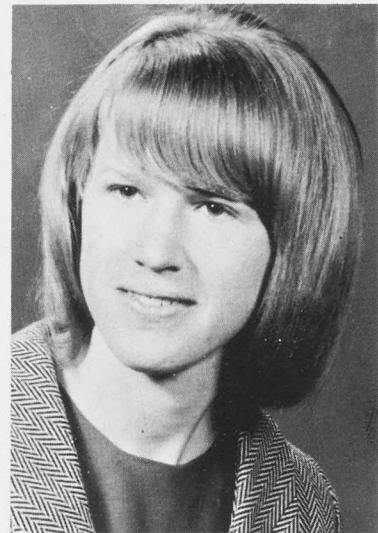

ALVIN FRIESEN

Alvin is the sports enthusiast who finds particular pleasure in soccer. Participates in all school "activities" except chemistry, a subject for which he has as yet not found a reason for its existence. Alvin is one of those fellows that never finds time to do homework on weekends. When teacher scolds about not getting to work on time he suggests that we no longer waste any more time. He expects to take Grade XII next year. After that -- we don't know.

MARY FRIESEN

Mary is that blond-haired, intelligent, hard-working girl sitting at the front of the classroom. Is not as talkative as some, but friendly, nevertheless. Among her likes are skating, baseball, reading, playing Rook, babysitting, and eating sunflower seeds. "Mitch" is talented at saying the right thing at the right time. Would like to play soccer, but, well . . . ! She doesn't enjoy school as much as she appears to. Future? Practical nurse!

LAUREN GIESBRECHT

Lauren is not at all of the quiet type; she's friendly. Noted for laughter and screams which help keep the others in good moods. Is often seen arguing with boys, but in a "friendly" way. Her system of communication includes a complicated network of postal routes. When it comes to sports, Lauren prefers water skiing and swimming. Loves writing, singing, relatives and last but not least, Deutsch Daydreamer — explains why the homework is done only so often.

CURTIS LOEWEN

Also one of the ones who occasionally come to class late. Finds particular delight in laughing with Paul and Ronald. Likes: sports, riding horseback, causing trouble, and his position behind Naomi. Curtis is noted for writing clever compositions. Finds deliberate slowness to be a valuable asset on certain occasions. He is well known for his good looks. The future will find Curtis as either a hobo or a millionaire or a husband(?)

DENNIS PLETT

Inspite of attending school only after Christmas, Dennis will have no trouble making the grade. Is intelligent and vocally talented. His smile does not need much provocation. Favourite sports are tennis and volleyball. Dennis's numerous hobbies include reading and erecting models. His behaviour is accounted for by the presence of his older sister. Has time for everything.

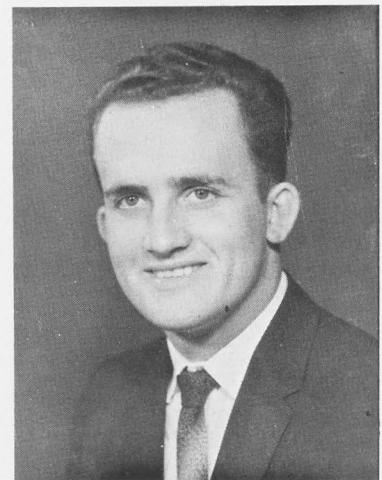

LOTTIE PLETT

"Luttie" is a tall girl. Remains serious and very studious most of the time. Enjoys school work and cooking. Busy . . . in Sunday School, S.C.F., and many other activities, and, besides all this Lottie does her regular assignments. Is always seen before heard. Lottie takes typing, and for the future she plans to go into secretarial work. Frequently misses school to help at home.

PETER PLETT

Peter is the oldest member of our class. That is probably why he is so cheerful and friendly. Studies hard. His results verify this. He likes reading and in sports his greatest loves are football and hockey. Peter makes his (and her) living by doing the janitor work and by shepherding flock of two sheep. One of the few real gentlemen in school. Uses recess for its intended purpose more frequently than the average Ridgewooder.

DAVID REIMER

Being the school photographer, he often catches people unawares with the camera. He makes smart marks and remarks. Whiz at typing. Frequently he attempts to sing. David would like to become a professional orator or actor or lawyer, doctor or stenographer or . . . teacher of Grade IX Literature and English. Probably he will land up as anything else.

DAVID BRIAN REIMER

This friendly fellow is good at light housekeeping. Tries hard to convince the composition teacher that the point of view he expresses is the right one. Good at giving advice and typing. Enjoys reading, skating, ping pong, and playing the organ. Often seen conversing with some of the girls. His ambition is to be a marriage counsellor. Probable fate: German teacher.

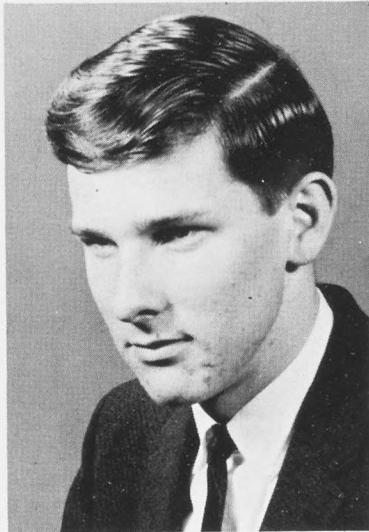

MILTON REIMER

This hardworking fellow doesn't believe that Chemistry is of much use for him. His favourite subjects are Literature and Composition. Occasionally he cracks the "real laughter". Enjoys playing guitar and singing. Lost his appendix during the Christmas holidays so he had to leave hockey for some time. His ambition is unknown to us.

FRANK THIESSEN

Frank is one of the oldest members in the class, (couldn't have guessed it). Boys that have no purpose in coming to school get low marks in Chemistry. Likes girls, but blushes when the others tease him about them. Enjoys arguing with everybody, especially with Mr. Martens. Always has something to say. On Monday mornings we see him rubbing the sleep from his eyes. His ambition is to get married.

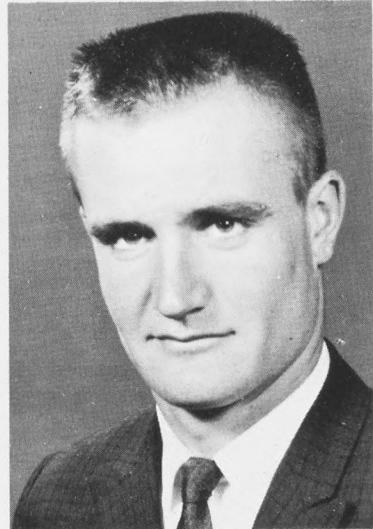

PAUL FRIESEN

This tall, dark fellow is good at all sports. He is the coach for the Blumenhof Elementary School hockey team. Enjoys pleasure skating. Respects Peter. Paul is often seen playing chess with Dennis or Frank. Never goes to sleep on Sundays. He takes a few subjects in Grade Ten and a few in Grade Eleven. Hopes to own a cattle ranch some day.

MENNO BARKMAN

Menno joined our ranks after Christmas. He is very fond of sports, and believes that recess should be spent outside, in some active game. He is a part-time student; he arrives at 10:30 a.m. and leaves at 2:30 p.m. Is very conscientious, and attains high marks in his two subjects—Chemistry and Maths. Menno owns two horses and is frequently seen riding them.

HERR PROFESSOR MARTENS LIEBE STUDENTEN

Warum waren wir in der stove doa hinge? Da sind viele reasons. Der biggest war die Knaben, especially die da ueber die ailse sitzen. They sind lude und kann ich nicht mein homework doni. The second Ursache war adventure und neeschea. Wir hatten dies nicht versucht before. Wir wusste nicht was wird passieren. Der naechste reason war beruhm und glory. Keiner hat dies before getan. Wie waren die ersten. Die Klasse ist immer sehr boring. Wie hatten ein "ball". Ich hatte nich mein deutsch getan und der Lehrer werde gescoldet haben. In Kurze, die reasons sind die Knaben, adventure und neeschea, beruhm und glory, die Klasse war boring und die unfinished Arbeit. Jetzt weisst ihr mein predicament. Danke sehr fuhr die time.

Howdy friends! It's yearbook time again and on top of that we're "right smack in the middle" of our Easter Exams.

We started our sports year off with football in the fall. After a few days of team practice we decided to give the Landmark team a game of "touch football". They wound up having to be better sportsmen and giving us the game for which we were quite happy.

In winter we had a few afternoons of hockey at the Blumenort Rink. Although we did not have any game against another club, we were satisfied with the idea of no schoolwork the time we spent at the ice. Some of our regular recesses were spent playing soccer in our outdoor gym.

The snow is melting and we are all looking forward to some real hard-hitting softball

During the year we as the social committee have been responsible for putting into the studies of the students and giving them some enjoyment. Our aim is to make these socials wholesome, enjoyable, and a rest from studies.

This part of the school function began with a "get-acquainted party" in September. We had a wiener roast and games. Later in the evening we all had to introduce a fellow student.

We as students try to treat all our teachers the same; we don't want to play favorites, but we had a birthday for only two of our teachers. At this party we found out that the teacher who had been married longest was putting on nylons.

After some heavy battling with the exams we again relieved the students with a Christmas social. We all enjoyed the Christmas social. We had some musical numbers, plays, skits, treats, and gifts. Too bad one of the fellows lost his suit!

Later on in winter we had a skating party. Due to bad weather the party was not attended too well, but we still had an enjoyable time. The girls tried their hand at hockey; the boys played broomball. Hot dogs, doughnuts, and hot chocolate were served.

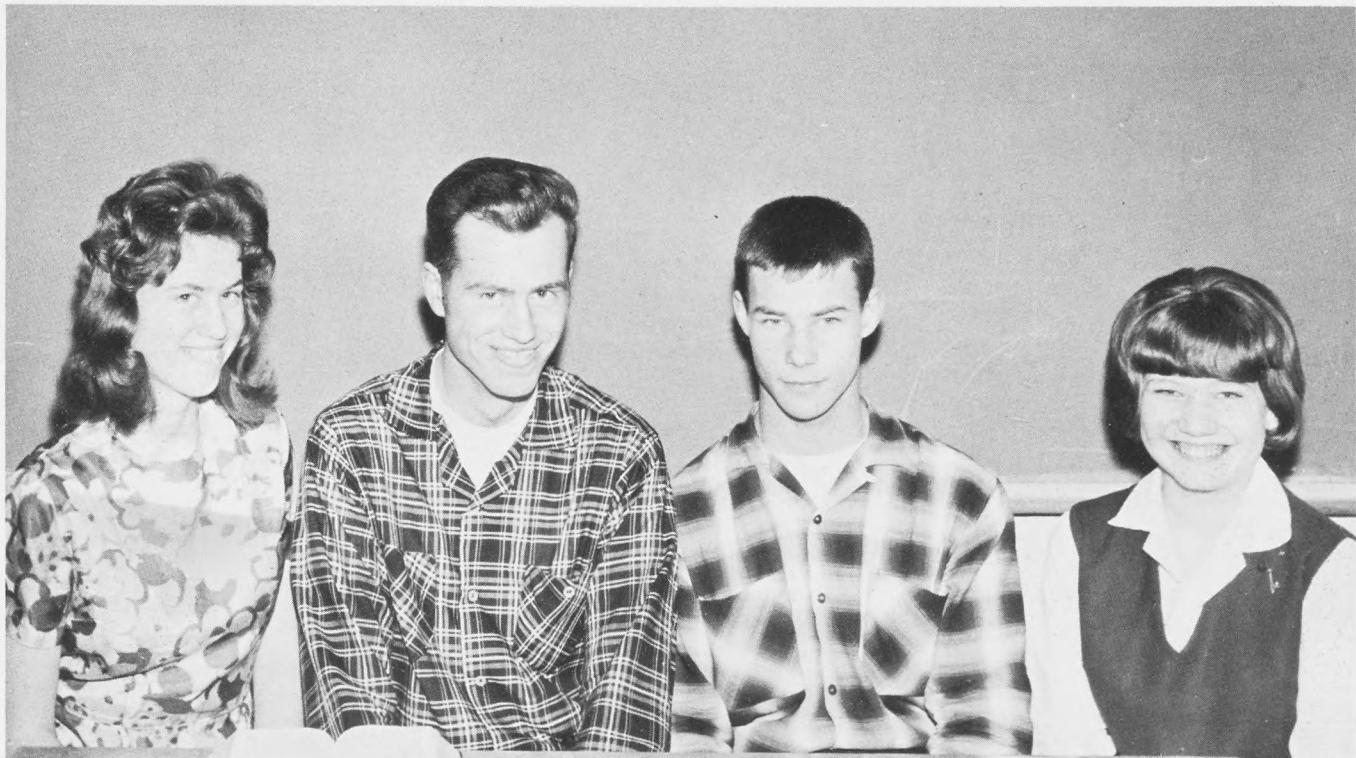

The committee was pleased to play host to the parents on education day. After a short program we treated them to coffee and doughnuts.

We as the committee hope that we have helped to create a sociable atmosphere in the school during the past year, and that we might have fond memories long after.

Every Thursday noon many of the Students gather in the grade nine class room for an S.C.F. meeting. Why do we have these meetings? One reason is to help us be a Christian in our every-day-life and that we would not be only a Sunday-Christian.

The motto is, "To know Christ and to make Him known." At these meetings we try to reach the first part of the motto, "To know Christ", so that those who do not know Him would know Him personally, and those who do know Him would know Him better. We do this through songs, musical numbers, group discussions, messages, films, scripture reading prayer and testimonies. These items should stir something in us to make us strive for the latter part of the motto, "To make Him known". This is my wish and prayer that the motto would go with us students where ever we go and that it would stay with us through our whole life. Let us Christians remember the verse found in Matthew 5:14; "Ye are the light of the world."

Spring Fever

The morn' of the summer, the time we call spring,
A time when the snow melts and birds sweetly sing,
Outdoors is calling to everyone near,
"Come one, come all these glad sounds to hear."
How can we work then if all these things call?
"Teachers, have mercy. Dismiss us till fall."
Oh, yes we try, don't misunderstand,
But it's rather hard to meet your demands
When outside the window we see the free birds.
This is no time to sit indoors and write
Long essays of one thousand words,
For our minds just don't function the way that they should.
When the cool air of autumn calms down our high zest,
And after we've had that luxurious long rest,
We'll come back to school with spirits anew,
And very conscientiously our work we will do,
For the diversions of spring are now all gone,
We've come back to school to work faithfully on.
All through the year we'll be good as can be
And then when the spring comes....yipee!

Another vacation!

Running from an Unexpected Shower

It was a lazy afternoon in September during the dry dirty thirties that Jim and Joe decided to go for a stroll through the once green forest. The sun was glaring down unashamedly. The sky was somewhat darkened by the dust which the wind aerated. Suddenly the sun was darkened altogether. A big black angry looking cloud had hidden the sun from view. Before they knew what was happening rain was pouring down. Judging by appearance, some giant had opened a tap on his cistern. The boys dashed off at top speed. Between the trees, around the rocks, and over windfalls they raced. Joe, who was short and chubby, had a hard time keeping up with long-legged, athletic Jim. Soon Jim started supplementing his oxygen supply by keeping his mouth open. Consequently he inhaled more water than air. This would of been dandy for a fish but it did not work for Jim. He soon gurgled and spluttered. He had inhaled too much water. Then his fat, round form flopped over. When Jim saw that he flopped over from sheer shock. An hour later, when they both regained their senses they decided that it is better not to run from an unexpected shower.

Running from an Unexpected Shower

All is silent. Suddenly the roar of a motor is heard and a Volkswagon comes zooming around the corner. The driver slams down the brakes and the car comes to a sudden stop at the road since the driveway is not driveable. A lady with a baby emerges from the car, walks to the front door, carefully avoiding all the puddles, and knocks. A voice from within excitedly yells, "Come in!" She jerks open the door and a mixture of voices can be heard shouting, "Shower!" The lady's heart almost stops beating because of the shock. She slams the door, turns around, and runs to the car in spite of the facts that she is wearing three-inch heels and a straight skirt, and that she is carrying her baby. She splashes through the mud and water, dives into the "jelly-bean", and speeds away. The shower that was planned did not materialize.
